

MOZAMBIQUE

Almost a third of the population (30%) is deemed to lack access to health services, and 50% have access to high-quality care. Despite progress, maternal and child mortality remain high, and there is a high burden of communicable diseases. There are a number of important health workforce challenges: the availability of skilled health professionals is low and there are both geographical and financial inequities in access. Although the percentage of women doctors is quite high and the ratio of nurses to physicians is above the OECD average, this may be a consequence of insufficient numbers of physicians, rather than an indicator of adequate skill of the workforce. Accreditation, regulation and licensing mechanisms need to be strengthened in order to improve the quality of the workforce. At the policy level, there is willingness to make human resources for health a priority and a Human Resource Development Plan (2008–2015) has been created, which will, however, need to be adequately costed.

Top 10 causes of morbidity and mortality (DALYs)

Disability-adjusted life years (DALYs) quantify both premature mortality (YLLS) and disability (YLDs) within a population. The top 10 causes of DALYs are ranked from top to bottom in order of the number of DALYs they contribute in 2010. Bars going right show the percent by which DALYs have increased since 1990. Bars going left show the percent by which DALYs have decreased.
